

EUWELLE Environmental Technology GmbH, based in Emmendingen, Germany, is a subsidiary of the WELLE Group www.wellegroup.com in Changzhou, China. In the rapidly growing markets of Asia, our parent company is one of the leading suppliers of environmental technology plants, such as:

- Biogas plants for renewable resources
- Anaerobic sewage sludge treatment
- Mechanical biological waste treatment
- Exhaust air treatment
- Recycling of plastics
- Mixed construction waste processing
- Thermal recycling of waste
- MBR + Membrane processes (MF/UF/NF/RO)

There are many companies operating in Europe that have high-performance products and processes in the environmental sector, but shy away from entering the Asian markets. EUWELLE researches and selects efficient suppliers, initiates cooperation between the companies that fit together, and supports the transfer of know-how to our Asian partners. Within this framework we perform the following tasks:

- Accompaniment and support of the WELLE Group subsidiaries located in Europe
- Technological support for innovative environmental technologies
- Maintenance and coordination of existing and new cooperations with European partners
- Distribution of Welle Group technologies in Europe, North America and individual countries
- Supply of environmental technology equipment from Europe to Asia
- Mediation of services in the field of mechanical biological waste treatment
